SPRINGFIELD, MASS.

TO OUR PATRONS.

We would respectfully invite the attention of all lovers of flowers to the following list of Plants, containing, in addition to all the leading varieties of former years, many that are new and rare, now offered for the first time in this country.

The list of NEW DAHLIAS, will be found to contain all of the most desirable PRIZE VARIETIES sent out by the English and Continental Florists, last season.

Among the NEW VERBENAS, will be found many that are particularly attractive, combining fine habits with durable colors, such as can be confidently recommended for bedding purposes, or pot culture.

We shall continue to give especial attention to our collection of ENGLISH CARNATION, PICOTEE, AND FLORISTS' PINKS, which are already favorably known in various parts of the country. Most of the varieties offered, have been grown by us for the past four or five years, have become thoroughly acclimated, and do not suffer from our scorching sun, like varieties of recent importation.

Of TREE, OR PERPETUAL CARNATIONS, we offer a splendid assortment, having received many valuable additions, during the past season, of great beauty.

Of the celebrated NEW DOUBLE PETUNIAS, we have a fine collection, to which we would invite particular attention.

The PHLOXES sent out by us last year having given general satisfaction wherever introduced, we have been induced to import all the leading varieties of the past season, among which the celebrated "TRIOMPHE DE TWICKEL," (acknowledged by many of the European Florists as one of the best in cultivation,) deserves especial notice.

Our list of NEW FUCHSIAS will be found to contain a fine collection of the new double varieties, (which are attracting much attention among the lovers of this graceful plant,) together with all the prominent varieties of the last season. Particular attention is also invited to our list of SCARLET or BEDDING GERANIUMS and CHRYSANTHEMUMS, both of the LARGE FLOWERING and POMPENE varieties, which have been largely increased during the past season, from the finest collections in Europe.

We never substitute other varieties for those ordered unless requested to do so, but as the stock of many varieties will probably be exhausted before the season is past, purchasers will please state whether they wish others substituted in case the varieties which they select should be disposed of.

Purchasers who are unacquainted with the varieties of plants, by leaving the selection with us and stating the sum they wish to expend, can rely upon receiving a good assortment.

A FEW REMARKS TO PURCHASERS:

As the season for selling plants continues only for a few months in the year, there is of course a great pressure of business just at the planting season. Except in cases of extreme urgency, all orders will be executed in strict rotation as received. We would therefore feel greatly obliged if our customers will kindly forward their orders as soon as possible after the receipt of this Catalogue. This would greatly facilitate operations, and ensure greater attention.

We use every possible precaution to prevent any error being committed in the execution and transmission of orders. Should any deficiency occur, either by press of business or accident, we earnestly desire our customers to inform us of the fact. Such irregularities rarely occur, but it is almost impossible to escape a few, in the hurry and haste of a busy seed season. We crave indulgence should there be a brief delay, and at the same time will do our utmost to prevent it.

In giving orders for plants, please state explicitly by what conveyance they are to be forwarded, and also the names of the parties to whose care they wish them consigned at the various places of transhipment. When no particular route is designated, we forward according to the best of our judgment, but in no case do we assume any responsibility after the packages leave our hands, unless for our own mistakes, which are always cheerfully rectified.

Orders from unknown correspondents, to insure attention, must invariably be accompanied by the cash or a satisfactory reference. Remittances of small sums can be made in current bank bills or postage stamps; large amounts by draft on New York, Boston, or Philadelphia.

N. B. Correspondents will please be particular and give their names in full, distinctly written, with Post Office address, County and State. Letters are often received from distant States with no other address than the town, and in some instances even the signature is omitted, which of course cannot be answered.

All letters should be addressed to B. K. BLISS, SPRINGFIELD, MASSACHUSETTS; there being several towns and cities in different States by the name of Springfield, it is very important to name the State. Letters have been frequently miscarried by not being properly directed.

DAHLIAS.

CLASS I.

New varieties of 1859 now offered for the first time in this country. The descriptions are copied from the Catalogues of their respective growers. Young plants in pots will be ready for delivery about the 10th of May, but as the stock of many varieties is quite limited, orders should be sent early.

ENGLISH VARIETIES.

PRICE $1 00 EACH; $10 00 PER DOZEN.

- 1 Comedy (Fellowes), yellow striped with bright red, an open but constant showy flower.
- 2 Chairman (Turner), novel yellow buff, several shades lighter than Cherub, a full sized flower, in form the most perfect Dahlia raised, and very constant. Received First Class Certificates at National, Bath and Brighton.
- 3 Dandy (Keynes), blush ground, heavily striped with maroon, very novel.
- 4 Disraeli (Noel), orange scarlet, very bright and pleasing, of good form. Received a prize at Bristol, and two First Class Certificates.

THE ABOVE SET OF NINE VARIETIES, FOR $3.75.

DIRECTIONS.—The Dahlia delights in a good rich loamy soil, at least eighteen inches deep; let it be well dug, and highly manured with well decomposed cow manure. They may be planted out from the first to the tenth of June. During a season of drought, water them thoroughly twice or three times a week with manure water. Thin out superfluous branches, and see that they are well secured to strong stakes. Take up the roots in the fall, after the frost has killed the tops, and after drying a few days, place them in their winter quarters. They are best preserved in winter, potted in dry sand, and placed safe from damp, fire heat, and frost.

Winter-Flowering Tree Carnations.

The great improvement in this tribe has added an invaluable feature to the section of winter-blooming plants for the Drawing-room, Conservatory, or Greenhouse. The delicately rich and grateful odor, in connection with the brilliant color and good outline of the flowers now offered, will secure for them a prominent place in the forcing department, and, ere long, be regarded as an indispensable requisite in the portable drawing-room flower vase.

The flowering period of these plants may be prolonged beyond the winter by retaining the terminal, or upper growth, but to ensure a fine early autumn or winter bloom, the upper growth should be shortened or pruned back (where requisite), in the spring or early summer months, and carried forward in a cool, airy greenhouse, or cool east or south pit throughout the summer, to mature the requisite vigor of growth for bloom. During the warm summer months, the plants should not be placed in any position where a free ventilation or air cannot be afforded by day and night; and when the requisite growth is obtained, they may be exposed in the open air until autumn, with the usual daily attention given to plants in pots.

PETUNIAS.

THIS desirable Bedding Plant has been so much improved by English and Continental Florists within the last two or three years, that it is now considered as indispensable to the flower garden, and is eagerly sought for by amateurs and florists. During the last year many new Double varieties have been added to our list, forming a distinct and unique collection. Great improvements have also been made in the single flower class, both in self and parti-colors, and many of the new striped, variegated, and mottled varieties are exceedingly beautiful, and deserve a place in every collection.

The following are a few of the novelties of the past season, of our own importation, with their descriptive characters given by their respective growers.

TRITOMA (KNIPHOFIA) UVARIA.

These are splendid, late flowering, half hardy, sub-evergreen, herbaceous plants, forming large, robust, stemless leaf-crowns, from the centers of which their tall flower-scapes, from three to five feet in height, are produced in the late summer and autumn months, with large, terminal, densely-flowered racemes of rich, pendant, orange-red, tinted flower-tubes, each raceme from one to two feet in length. They are admirably adapted for forming large, effective groups and beds, in which the numerous terminal, flower-colored blossoms form a stately distant, or mediate effect.

The intrinsic value of the plant can scarcely be overrated, in consequence of its adaptation to thrive in our ordinary garden soils. For the attainment of its highest vigor, however, it prefers a rich mixture of open loam, peat, and leaf mould, on a bed or border of two to three feet in depth. Another of its valuable features is its suitability for culture in large pots or vases. It may be so grown with success if planted in rich, firm-bodied soil, and duly supplied with copious waterings. As the plants advance in vigor, they should, during mature growth, be placed in feeders, from which a copious supply can be occasionally administered.

HOLLYHOCKS.

IN consequence of the rapidly increasing demand for this gorgeous flower, we shall offer but a few varieties this Spring, wishing to preserve our stock for propagation, that we may be able to meet the demand another year. We have now upwards of ONE HUNDRED VARIETIES in cultivation, including all the leading novelties sent out the past year from England, which we should be happy to exhibit, when in flower, to any of our friends who may favor us with a call during the months of July or August. We have a surplus of a few dozen plants, which we can furnish at $4.50 to $8.00, per dozen, but must reserve the privilege of making the selection, which we are confident will be satisfactory to the purchaser.

Choice seed in mixed packets, saved from the above varieties, 25 cents per packet.

DIANTHUS HEDDEWIGII.

This brilliantly-flowered variety is of a neat dwarf compact habit, from 9 to 12 inches in height, with numerous large even-margined blossoms nearly 3 inches in diameter, of the richest conceivable colors, varying in violet, rose, and carmine crimson, with maroon shades, in self and parti-colored varieties, the latter being finely marked with marbled white stains. This highly ornamental flowered plant is admirably adapted for pot culture in Greenhouse and Conservatory decoration during the early summer months, and by spring sowing in pit-frames, &c.; for open ground planting, it makes a grand effect, as groups or beds in flower garden arrangements, from June until October.

Strong Plants 25 cents each ; $2.50 per dozen.

DIANTHUS HEDDEWIGII GIGANTEUS.

This variety, received from Mr. Heddewig by the above name, is expected to be selected from the largest flowered varieties of its extremely beautiful prototype (D. Heddewigi), and will produce all the similarly brilliant colors and shades as characterized in the last named reputed species, and will constitute one of the most magnificent groups of flowers yet introduced, and altogether unequalled by their colossal proportions and regal beauty, in the section of which it forms so distinguished a feature, and now offered as a valuable addition to all flower gardens.

Strong Plants 25 cents each ; $2.50 per dozen.

Hardy Herbaceous Flowering Plants.

HERBACEOUS PLANTS are considered by many as the most desirable of all border flowers; they are not only perfectly hardy, but are of the easiest culture, increasing rapidly and give a succession of blossoms during the whole season; when once a good collection is obtained, they continue from year to year with but little care. Our stock is not large, but comprises many of the most desirable varieties in cultivation.

Prices, $2.00 to $6.00 per dozen; our selection.

Chinese Potatoe, or Yam.

(Dioscorea Batatas, or D. Japonica).

This esculent vegetable tuber is so far generally appreciated as to be found worthy of a place in every collection of culinary roots, and where its simple conditions of growth are understood and complied with, it invariably yields a corresponding produce to the tubers planted, even in seasons which are adverse and unfavorable to the potatoe. Thoroughly trench the ground (previously enriched by other crops), fully three feet in depth, and at the distance of three to four feet, throw out parallel trenches as for celery, leaving intervening ridges or narrow beds (which should front east and west, to admit of the highest possible temperature), eighteen inches to two feet, above the ground level, and about the same in width at the top, upon each ridge plant a twin-row of tubers, each two to three inches in depth, and six to nine inches apart. In this situation the upper leaf-growth will make little progress until near August, when the more rapid growth of the very elegant slender stems will indicate the rigorous enlargement of the root-growth during August and September. Should the soil have been in proper mellow and porous condition, the tubers will each have attained from nine to twelve, or eighteen ounces in weight. The stronger the sets or tubers when planted, the heavier will be the produce. Tubers of four to eight ounces when planted are calculated in rich deep soil to enlarge from one pound to two and a half pounds in weight.

The roots are matured by October, and are very easily dug out, by the workmen removing the soil and digging forward as in celery crops. The tubers or yams should be harvested thoroughly dry. The crown and narrow top part of the tubers are cut into proportionate length for planting, the remainder of each for culinary purposes. The style of growth in this plant is very graceful, and pretty, in its glossy bright green heart-shaped leaves, and the numerous small axillary spikes of diminutive green blossoms emit a very grateful odor.

Sets or Tubers for planting, 75 cents to $2.00 per dozen, according to size.

Miscellaneous, Herbaceous and Bedding Plants,

SUMMER-FLOWERING BULBS, &C.

The following selection, flowering all the season, comprises the most appropriate and useful plants for planting in borders for summer flowering, or in masses on lawns, according to the prevailing method of flower gardening. They are grown in small pots, and can be sent to any distance in safety. May or June are the most suitable months for bedding out plants.

Collection of Flower Seeds by Mail, Postage Free.

It is now six years since we commenced putting up select assortments of Flower Seeds for sending by mail, that those who reside at a distance might enjoy equal facilities for procuring a fine display of Flowers at a moderate cost, with those who are nearer market. These Collections are now favorably known in every part of the United States and Canadas, and we shall continue to give especial attention to this branch, to render them complete and satisfactory in every respect. They will be found to embrace many novelties, and only such sorts as are well worthy of cultivation. They are equally adapted for the requirements of those who have large as well as others who have only small gardens. The uninitiated may therefore order them without fear of disappointment, and the experienced cultivator will find them equally acceptable. Full directions for culture will accompany each package, which will be sent, post paid, to any address in the Union, under 3000 miles, at the following prices:—

ASSORTMENT No. 1.—Contains twenty choice varieties of Annuals.	$1 00
No. 2.—Contains twenty choice varieties of Biennials and Perennials.	1 00
